The Patient OPTION Act

Empowering Patients, Not Government

FreedomWorks proudly endorses the Patient OPTION Act (HR 4224), introduced by Congressman Paul Broun, M.D. (R-GA). This legislation, which FreedomWorks provided comments on during its preparation, would greatly promote the ongoing movement toward a patient-centered health care system. The bill fully repeals and replaces ObamaCare with a system that puts more choice and freedom in the hands of the patient. Rather than focusing on “expanding coverage”—a goal that puts policymakers in a trap that inevitably leads to more centralized government control, a la ObamaCare—this plan focuses on two commonsense goals: (1) reduce costs through greater choice and competition, (2) expand individual liberty.

Here are the principal provisions of the Patient OPTION Act:

- Fully repeals the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (ObamaCare).
- Makes all health care expenditures, including health insurance, fully tax deductible. Makes the current income-tax deduction for medical expenses available to all persons, not just those whose medical expenses exceed 10 percent of their adjusted gross income. This will give tax relief to persons with high medical expenses. More importantly, it will level the tax-subsidy playing field for individuals between out-of-pocket versus insurance-financed health care spending, thus promoting greater involvement and smarter shopping by patients.
- Expands and strengthens patient-friendly Health Savings Accounts (HSAs). HSAs are tax-advantaged accounts that enable individuals to save for the costs of health care, especially to cover deductibles, copays, and items not covered by insurance. This provision would increase the permissible individual contribution limits to an HSA from $3,100 to $10,000 and would eliminate the current requirement that HSAs be attached to high-deductible health plans. The Act also introduces HSAs to Medicare, allowing beneficiaries to contribute to an HSA and supplement their Medicare benefits with their savings. The provision would also allow individuals to pass their HSAs along to descendants.
- Allows consumers to purchase health insurance across state lines. Currently, under the federal McCarran-Ferguson Act of 1945, health insurance is regulated at the state level. By permitting consumers to purchase health insurance across state lines, as they currently do with automobile insurance, this provision will promote greater competition between insurers while also putting pressure on state lawmakers and regulators to reduce the burden of mandated benefits.

- Allows small businesses to band together to obtain lower health insurance rates through Association Health Plans (AHPs). Large businesses already have this power under the federal ERISA law. Small businesses and other voluntary membership associations would obtain it through this reform.
- Converts Medicare from an old-fashioned “socialized medicine” system into a simple, modern, high-quality “premium support” system. The existing Medicare program (parts A, B, and D), and their attendant bureaucracies, would be replaced by a simple voucher-like system. Beneficiaries would choose their health coverage from among competing private health insurers.
- Repeals Medicare’s individual mandate, thus permitting individuals to opt out of Medicare if they wish. Under current regulations, participation in Medicare Part A is effectively mandatory. Persons who choose to opt out of it will lose their eligibility for Social Security retirement benefits and have to repay all such benefits received to date. If the individual mandate in ObamaCare is wrong-headed and unconstitutional, so is the individual mandate in Medicare. This provision would make Medicare participation voluntary.
- Reforms the federal EMTALA mandate. EMTALA is a federal law that burdens overcrowded hospital emergency rooms. This provision permits hospitals to undertake reasonable triage without fear of liability.
- Creates new tax incentives for physicians who provide free care to patients in need. This provision would give physicians a tax credit of between $2,000 and $8,000 a year for engaging in free care for patients in need, depending on the amount of charity care offered.

The Patient OPTION Act addresses many important problems in our current health care system while avoiding the disasters of ObamaCare. For further reading, see:
